Fresh trends a breeze for decorate-it-yourself enthusiasts

At Decorex Cape Town, taking place at the CTICC from 23 to 27 April, trends will point towards a new lightness of being, ushering in an era of enlightenment. Buzz words range from rehab design to flights of fantasy.

Held in association with Plascon and DSTV, the show is a hotbed of captivating new shapes and forms ranging from modern collectibles to the kitchen sink. Discover dream rooms, the SA Handmade Collection with high-end craft, off-the-wall finishes, eco-caring kitchens, water-friendly bathrooms and even a planet-saving house sprouting green products. Bright ideas, awesome show bargains and free expert advice blend with urban-chic spaces, newly launched fabric fashions and bold new colours of the season.

Melanie Robinson, Decorex SA exhibition director, hand-picks trends for home fashionistas and highlights for decorate-it-yourself-enthusiasts:

Talk trends with the dream room divas: Spot inspiring ways to add impact, value and style to your space with this forward-looking collection of high-end exhibitors - from established design icons to new names, fabric houses to retailers, captivating rooms and new reveals. First-time exhibitor Lulu Ridgway of Lu'nique Interior and Design brings an ocean-inspired interior to the show launching new signature pieces ranging from bespoke chandeliers to sofas. Nicola Townsend Interior interprets the show theme in Green Glam style, while the multi-award-winning Marcelle Crowther of Hocus Interiors takes her many-layered interior style to new heights.

Making her Decorex SA debut with the launch of Earl Jones, Louise van Niekerk creates a roomsetting with her Ralph Lauren inspired collection of high-end locally manufactured items. She describes the Earl Jones range as "a classic collection of perfect basics to sex up life and home". The range includes architectural lighting, homeware, clothing and art.
